

Fast track your business. Expertise on your doorstep

The University of Southampton is one of the UK's leading entrepreneurial universities with a strong track record for collaborating with business and creating pioneering companies from University innovations.

We are continuing to grow links with the commercial world and companies can access our knowledge, resources and facilities through research and consultancy packages, including the RJ Mitchell wind tunnel that was used by the British Cycling team for aerodynamics testing to help them win Gold at the Beijing Olympics.

The expertise of our staff and students is in high demand from business and public bodies and we are a leading provider of professional development and education helping build the skills of the region's workforce.

To find out more about how working with the University can benefit your business, visit www.southampton.ac.uk/business or email businessenquiries@soton.ac.uk