

Develop Connections to help your business grow...

At the University of West London our approach to supporting businesses in Hounslow is simple: we combine industry knowledge and academic experience to develop tailored solutions, whether you're looking to enhance your staff's skill, access talented students and graduates or simply need conferencing or presentation facilities.

Training and development

Enhance your personal and organisational development with our tailor-made courses and training solutions. Our courses are accredited, and our range of short courses can help you fit learning around business and personal commitments.

Free support from our Careers and Employment Service

We help you advertise your vacancies to our students and graduates and target candidates with appropriate skills. We also offer facilities for recruitment events and interviews, and provide access to our talented undergraduate students for work placements.

Conference and facilities hire at competitive rates

We have a range of conferencing, presentation and learning facilities, including fully equipped computer labs and specialist facilities such as recording, film and dance studios, a health related simulation suite, and training restaurants and kitchens.

As a university, we can offer you an unrivalled suite of staff development opportunities supported by experts, whether at our dedicated education and training facilities or your own 'in-house' provision.
