

Over 50 years of higher education for the public services

- We are the South East's largest provider of education, training and skills to the public services*
- Our links with industry include providing consultancy to help South East businesses thrive
- In choosing to study locally, our students from the South East put £109m back into the regional economy each year ^
- 93% of our most recent UK graduates are in employment or further studies six months after completing their course
- Our teaching and research impact on regional, national and international public services

* We offer the largest number of public service courses in the South East, outside London.
^ Economic Impact Assessment 2011 – based on 2009/10 study.

www.canterbury.ac.uk